

Meet on anti-microbial resistance

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

KOCHI

A two-day FAO-ICAR meeting on identification of research priorities in the veterinary sector for anti-microbial resistance will be held at the Central Institute of Fisheries Technology here from Monday. A statement from the organisers said that anti-microbial resistance was a major concern the world over while combating infectious diseases.

There is an urgent need to unravel the mysteries behind the emergence and spread of anti-microbial resistance, the statement added.